

Please see below various initiatives to reassure you so that you can register for the International Conference with confidence:

- In the event of a registered delegate having to leave the International Conference in Adelaide as a result of a localised lockdown, we offer a proportional refund on the registration fee (calculated on the number of days left in the Conference).
- In the event of a registered delegate being locked down in Adelaide or forced into quarantine during the dates of the International Conference (5 - 9 September 2021), we offer to cover their accommodation costs or self-quarantine costs up to a maximum of $1,000 until the travel ban/quarantine is lifted. This includes delegates having to self quarantine upon their return home.
- In the event of a lockdown in a State other than South Australia, up to and including the first registered day of the Conference, we offer a full refund of registration fees.
